INTERNET CAFES

As most delegates still have to continue with their daily work load while on conference, Internet Cafes come into good use allowing each individual to download emails, correspond with office staff and clients as well as do research on various topics of the conference at present.

The total number of computers and internet connectivity is dependent on the client's budget, amount of delegates and/or duration of the conference. Reliable Internet connectivity is dependent on the number of stations required and resources available at the venue whether ISDN, ADSL, wireless or 3G used.
